The Bridgeport Castle

You're not in Disneyworld. A residential street in Bridgeport got the royal treatment with a castle boasting battlements and towers.

The stately home is a tribute to Alex Rico's late wife Gisela. It took nearly three years to construct the moving monument to their eighteen-year marriage. Alex called Gisela, "the the queen of my heart for life."

Chicago River Dyeing

What’s the secret behind Chicago’s tradition of dyeing the river green for St. Patrick’s Day? Plumbers.

The dye used to detect leaks in pipes turns water the perfect green. It may look toxic, but the dye’s secret recipe is made from vegetables. Chicago plumbers have been giving the river this green glow since 1962.
